
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Exposure One Awards Honors Andrew Clark in its 2025 One Shot Photo Contest

The Exposure One Awards has announced the winners of its 2025 One Shot Photo Contest.

The winning images at this year's contest are masterful contributions to black and white photography. With that in mind, we are thrilled to congratulate Andrew Clark for winning one of the top honors at the 2025 One Shot Photo Contest.

Black and white photography is a steadfast example of the power of the image. This year's submissions included photographs revealing the plight of our fellow humans around the world, inventive views of cities and landscapes, and poignant portraits providing us with unique opportunities to see the world through the eyes of others.

Our world-class panel of judges for this year's contest hail from the Leica Gallery, Aperture, AIPAD, Photo Basel, and SFMoMA, representing some of the most respected names in photography, visual arts, and creativity.

Please join us in congratulating Andrew Clark for receiving the following honors at the 2025 One Shot Photo Contest:

Silver Nature

"Lily Glow"

People's Vote Award Photojournalism

"DC Conversation"

Honorable Mention Photojournalism

"DC Conversation"

Honorable Mention Street

"Cast Away and Fly"

About the Exposure One Awards:

Here at Exposure One, we believe that a black and white palette is where the medium of photography comes to life. Our goal is to celebrate the timeless, eternal nature of the monochrome image through the vivid photography of our global community.

Title:

"Lily Glow"

Category:

Nature

Award:

 Silver

Title:

"DC Conversation"

Category:

Photojournalism

Award:

 People's Vote Award

Title:

"DC Conversation"

Category:

Photojournalism

Award:

 Honorable Mention

Title:

"Cast Away and Fly"

Category:

Street

Award:

 Honorable Mention